HISTORY OF TWILIGHT IN THE PARK CONCERTS

In 1981, over 40 years ago, one citizen Mike Waggener had an idea: to have free pop music concerts on Balboa Park's Spreckels Organ Pavilion stage during the summer months. He approached Frank Martinez, B.P. Cultural Arts Manager, who agreed to give it a trial run if Mike would organize the program. The first summer there were six Twilight Concerts by local performers. By the summer of 1983 there were thirty-three musical groups who donated their time and talent to provide the free Concerts for the public. Volunteers were recruited to help plan, select new performers, and usher at the Concerts. Over the years many citizens have volunteered their time to keep the Twilight Concerts alive. In 2007, Gordon and Lloyd Uber volunteered and assisted the Twilight Committee in purchasing its own Sound Equipment which provided a huge boost to the Twilight Concerts musical abilities. A one-time $1,000 donation from two City Councilmembers, Donna Frye and Toni Atkins, and an accumulation of the audience donations over the years helped secure the equipment and hire a Sound Tech. The Twilight Concerts receive no other City money or Sponsorship monies; therefore, your donations are VERY APPRECIATED to help purchase sound equipment, pay Sound Techs salaries, and for printing & advertising.

WE WANT TO THANK EVERYONE who has been a part of the Twilight Concerts and the Audience over the last 40+ years! WELCOME BACK AFTER OUR 2-YEAR HIATUS!

Everything connected with these concerts is on a volunteer basis and we wish to thank:

- The performers for their time and talent
- The City of San Diego Park & Recreation Department for use of the facilities
- The Concert Committee for continuing to combine these elements for the benefit of the San Diego Community and its visitors
- You, the people who attend
